

FEBRUARY
Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28

McGill Daily

News Desk Editors
Meeting Today
At 1 p.m.

Vol. XXXIX., No. 77

Montreal, Friday, February 10, 1950

PRICE TWO CENTS

Five Coeds Picked For Queen Contest

26 Contestants Compete for Honours

By GARRY PATTERSON
The five finalists for the position of the Winter Carnival Queen were selected last night at a reception in the R.V.C. Common Room. Chosen were Ann Dohan, Brenda Turner, Jane Currie, Alice Diggs and Pat Elder. Students will go to the polls on Wednesday to elect one of these coeds Queen, to reign over the coming Carnival.

The 26 nominees were given a chance to meet the judges at an informal reception before the selection committee started to pick the finalists. The judges were made up of three members of the Carnival executive and three members of the Student's Council. Kayo Little, president of the Women's Union, Jack Crepeau, president of the Union, and Colin MacCallum, president of the Students Society, were the representatives from the S.E.C. while Chris Bovey, Carnival chairman, Kent Newcombe and Peter Pershall, co-chairman of the publicity committee, represented the carnival executive.

The girls were first taken individually before the judges for a one minute period. They were asked a few questions as to their home towns, faculties, hobbies, etc. From the original 26 nominees the judges then picked 10 for further elimination. These 10 went before the judges for a further few minutes, following which the five finalists were picked.

Three of the final five chosen were Montreals. Out-of-town were Alice Diggs, a 20-year-old coed from Washington, D. C. and 18-year-old Brenda Turner, a second year arts student from Vancouver.

Other finalists were Jane Currie, a 19-year-old second year physical education student, Ann Dohan, a second year arts student who is also 19, and Pat Elder, 20-year-old third year phys ed student.

The girls will take part in the Wednesday parade (see other story on this page) and Thursday's torchlight parade to the Park Slide on the mountain.

They will also be very much in evidence at Friday night's Forum spectacle when Mayor Camillien Houde crowns the Queen.

The Queen will be drawn out on a sleigh by the Fireflies, McGill's skating chorus line. The lights will be focussed on the Queen and her identity revealed to the crowd. On Saturday she will present the prizes to the winners of the various athletic contests.

The afternoon reception at R. V. C. at which the girls were selected was organized by John Allen.

(Continued on Page 4)

Orthopedic Surgery Lecture Heard by Pre-Med Society

By DON ALLEN

Contributions which were made to orthopedic surgery during the last few centuries by noted medical pioneers were reviewed by Dr. L. G. Petrie at a meeting of the Pre-Medical Society in the Biology Building yesterday afternoon. He also discussed modern techniques in orthopedic surgery and advances which are being made in orthopedics and in allied medical fields.

Dr. Petrie told of the necessity of such discoveries as antiseptic surgery, the use of splints, and the commencement of the use of anaesthetics in surgery to the techniques of modern orthopedics. These techniques, he continued, are often indispensable in cases of poliomyelitis, tuberculosis of the thigh, or fractured hips. It is also of use in the treatment of babies which are born with club feet.

One topic which proved of interest during the question period was the various techniques which are now employed in bone-grafting operations.

Staples of stainless steel or of an alloy known as vitallium are often employed, Dr. Petrie explained. New methods are always being developed, he said. "The history of orthopedics is far from dead," he further commented on the plastic joints which are now being used

Workers Needed for Frosh Sculpture

A call to first year students to "report for duty" on the lower campus at 2 p.m. today to help in the construction of an ice palace came yesterday from Pete Robinson, chairman of this year's Winter Carnival activities.

The ice palace will be one of the new features of this year's Winter Carnival, with the First Year Club taking charge of construction. The club hopes to rival the Dartmouth Winter Carnival Bear, a 28 foot statue constructed recently at their Carnival.

The Palace will be 40 feet long, and 12 feet high interspersed by towers reaching 20 feet in height. When the structure is finished, it will be illuminated by colored lights. Mr. H. Brunel, the Carnival announcer, will supply the ice blocks at a greatly reduced price.

Mark Hall, in charge of the construction, said yesterday said yesterday that there will be a bucket brigade entirely composed of freshmen, who will carry the water necessary for freezing the blocks together. The freshmen will also aid in the actual construction as well, and all freshmen are urged to come.

'Zany' Parade To Publicize Carnival

McGill students will publicize the winter carnival by staging a "zany parade" on Wednesday, Feb. 15, it was yesterday announced by the publicity committee.

The parade will begin at 11 a.m. in front of the McGill Union. It will include the McGill band in long red underwear, clowns, banners proclaiming that "everyone is going to the McGill Winter Carnival," and the five carnival queen contestants finalists who will ride in convertible cars in the parade. Students will be dressed as Eskimos, Russians, convicts, and just about anything else, the committee said.

The city of Montreal will provide a motorcycle escort to clear the way for the students in the parade.

The parade will start in front of the McGill Union and will move west on Sherbrooke street to Guy, down to St. Catherine and from there east to Peel, from Peel and St. Catherine, the parade will go around Dominion Square, then back up to St. Catherine, east to University, up University and ending back at the McGill Union.

CARNIVAL QUEEN FINALISTS pose with last year's Queen—Beryl Dickenson-Dash. Left to right they are: Ann Dohan, Pat Elder, Jane Currie, Beryl Dickenson-Dash, Brenda Turner, and Alice Diggs. McGill students will have their opportunity to elect one of the five finalists as Carnival Queen on Wednesday and to watch her crowning on Friday evening, Feb. 17, by Mayor Houde.

Phelps Inaugural Discusses Canadian Writing & Society

By GARRY PATTERSON

"The Canadian people are growing up into a realization of their place in the world and of their duty to explore and discover themselves in terms of what they are as a part of and in relation to the world," said Professor Arthur L. Phelps in his inaugural lecture entitled "Canadian Society and Literature" in Moyse Hall last night.

As there is a French spirit and a British tradition and an American way, continued Dr. Phelps, so there may be a Canadian essence or flavor of which we and no one else can properly be the responsible custodians. It may be that this spirit is abroad among us, for good or ill — making us ask, for instance if Mr. Duplessis in Quebec province is at all time behaving in a Canadian way.

Dr. Phelps said that it is possible that we are at a "sort of critical point of emergence" in Canadian life. We realize that our educational system has not produced a sufficient number of young men and women cultivated in the Arts and possessed of that human awareness that comes from familiarity with the worlds of arts.

Mathew Arnold, the speaker continued, once said that, if poetry were threatened with decay the instinct for self-preservation in man would maintain it. There does therefore seem to be some potential interrelationship between society and literature, he said.

"In what sense and to what degree has literature in Canada, directly or by implication, reflected and interpreted with imagination and passion and in appropriate clarifying form the nature and complexities of our own society?" questioned Professor Phelps. The answer, he added, can be a comment both on our society and on our literature — in the field of poetry some of the work of A. M. Klein and Patrick Anderson, of this city and this university, has helped us to the answer which is the comment.

Under some definitions of the word literature Canada might be said to have none at all, said the speaker, but there are some things to be said concerning the literature thus far produced in Canada. In the first place, stated Dr. Phelps, there is much more of it than many people think exists. In the second place in general terms there is more downright honest quality than the self-conscious timid little Canadian might imagine. In the third place there is a good deal of writing that has the mark, the accent of our time on it in the fashion that transcends time and place.

"In conclusion," said Dr. Phelps, "the universities in Canada have not yet turned informed, imaginative and creative criticism upon the sources, conditions and achievements of literature in Canada. It may be a sign of growth towards a

(Continued on Page 4)

Prof. Zaborski Gives Talk On Polish Nation

The tragedy of Poland lies in the fact that she has no natural boundaries. This was the theme of an address made last night by Professor Zaborski of the Department of Geography to the Political Science Club.

Prof. Zaborski stressed the fact that Poland, having never had any lines of natural defence, has been continually overrun both from the east and the west during her entire history. The culmination of these invasions occurred at the end of the 18th century, when Poland was effectively partitioned and taken under the rule of her three powerful neighbors: Prussia, Austria and Russia.

"The Polish nation was recreated in 1918, and despite present communist domination, has strong nationalistic feeling," he said. Prof. Zaborski made clear that Poland's thesis to communism ideology. The culture is western, and not sympathetic Polish situation is tragic during one of the rare periods in which the Polish people are united in one nation they have lost their freedom.

Prof. Zaborski was doubtful but optimistic regarding Poland's future. "Poland herself can do nothing at all," he said, and referred to methods of terrorism used by Communists to destroy the Polish national spirit.

Council 'Vehemently' Opposes I.U.S. Ties in 2-Hour Discussion

George Denny To Moderate Forum

George V. Denny, Jr., moderator of the Town Hall Meeting of the Air will act as moderator over the McGill Debating Society Forum on Sunday afternoon directly after he has moderated the Town Hall Forum. It was announced yesterday by Boris Berhler, chairman of the radio forum.

The topic to be discussed by the McGill forum this Sunday will be "How can we be successful parents?" Mr. Denny told McGill debaters he would like to receive recordings of future broadcasts of the McGill Debaters Radio Forum for use as examples for other groups, Berhler said.

The McGill debaters are the only Montreal group to have Mr. Denny on the air, and this was done largely through the co-operation of Radio, Station CFCF.

The Debating Society forum presents the student point of view on the Town Hall topic being discussed that week. The topic is also discussed from the Canadian angle.

Mr. Denny has just returned from a flight around the world with the Town Hall meeting of the air.

He met with the McGill debaters last Wednesday morning in order to record the broadcast and to give them some pointers on conducting the radio forum.

The forum, a 15 minute program will commence at 3.30 p.m., and will be followed 15 minutes later by the McGill Show.

Peace Council to Hold Constitutional Meet.

Cyril Watson, pro-tem chairman of the newly formed McGill Peace Council, announced that there will be a meeting of the Council on Monday at 5 p.m. in the New Room of the Union. The main issue for the meeting will be the constitution proposed by the constitution committee composed of Cyril Watson, Abe Gani, and Don Kushner.

After a constitution is adopted, elections will be held for executive positions in the club. Then the new executive will petition the S.E.C. for recognition.

The purpose of the club is to foster an interest in all measures for peace, and promote friendly relations between international student organizations. It was announced by the chairman.

Council Briefs

In response to a letter from the president of the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto regarding their stand on the 10 per cent discount on text books. The following motion moved by Julian Hutchison (Commerce) and seconded by Perry Black (Arts and Science), was passed:

"The McGill SEC hereby endorses the stand of the University of Toronto SAC on the question of textbook prices, as contained in the SAC's letter, dated January 21, 1950, and that the SEC register a strong protest to the MacMillan Company of Canada, the Oxford Press, and Nelson's Ltd. in support of the stand taken by the Toronto SAC on the matter of the boycott of the University of Toronto bookstore."

Boris Gardavsky (Engineering) and a member of the finance committee, were named to represent the Council regarding the sale of the Dawson Students' Society assets.

A recommendation, on application from the Debating Society, that a public speaking course be given at the University was made.

It was decided that a dance should be held after the Students' Society banquet on March 2.

Pre-Medical Society Postpones Tour Plan

The executive of the Pre-Medical society has announced that the tour of the Royal Victoria Hospital which was scheduled to take place tomorrow has been postponed until a later date. There will be a tour, however, of the Queen Mary Veterans Hospital at 10 a.m. tomorrow and those who plan to attend are asked to sign the lists which have been posted in the Biology Building.

NEWS MEET CANCELLED

The weekly staff meeting of Daily staffers of the rank of staff writer and above which would normally be held this afternoon at 4 p.m., has been cancelled.

Madame Casgrain Advocates Changes in Marriage Laws

By MARY DRAFER

The inadequacy of marriage laws in Quebec was the subject of an address by Madame Pierre Casgrain to the Women's Union at R. V. C. last night. She stressed the importance of familiarizing oneself with these laws and their implications before marriage to avoid difficulties later.

"When marriage goes well we do not think of the civil code," said Madame Casgrain, "but when the husband turns out not to be all that he should be, then legal complications are apt to arise under the present system." It is advisable as a precaution to draw up a marriage contract.

If a couple are married in Quebec and do not have a marriage contract they are subject to the Community Regime which is the civil law of Quebec. According to this law, the husband becomes sole master of all movable property of his wife, and all immovable property acquired by her after the marriage. Madame Casgrain explained that by movable property was meant cash, stocks, bonds and other securities, and by immovable was meant real estate, houses, property and other such holdings. The only property legally owned by a married woman in Quebec is that days when most property was in the form of land, and was adequate then, but in our age of movable assets these laws are no longer adequate.

In conclusion, Madame Casgrain stressed the inadequacy of the existing laws in Quebec. The civil code is based on the old Napoleonic Code, which was drawn up in the days when most property was in the form of land, and was adequate then, but in our age of movable assets these laws are no longer adequate. "I can be elected to the Commons or Senate of Canada and pass laws, but in the eyes of the law of Quebec, I am a minor," Madame Casgrain added ruefully.

Law Home Is Named Chancellor Day Hall

Tyndale Calls For Breadth Of View

By BERN PELLETIER

The Chancellor Day Hall of McGill University is the official name given to the new law faculty building, formerly McConnell House, announced Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale, chancellor of the university, to a gathering of McGill University law graduates in the new building's common room at the ceremonial opening yesterday afternoon. Principal F. Cyril James was also present and was seated at the speaker's table.

Dean A. S. Brunau opened the event by extending a welcome to the guests and inviting them to tour the building and observe the various facilities. He gave thanks, not only to Mr. McConnell for donating the premises, but also to Mr. Maurice Pollack, a Quebec City businessman, for contributing the furnishings of the common room.

The president of the law undergraduate society, Matthew Hannon expressed the gratitude of the law faculty students and thanked both donors on behalf of himself and his fellow students. Turning to Mr. Pollack, M. Hannon told him that he had made a contribution in helping to form the careers of the forthcoming law graduates and knew that, in the future, he would feel proud of them.

Chancellor Tyndale, in his address to the assembled law graduates, remarked that as a justice it was his duty to maintain certain characteristics of justice that are of interest to this province and to Canada. He referred to the two sets of laws prevailing in Quebec.

"A breadth of view and an open mind are necessary," he continued. "The first requisite is for judges to be free of governmental control. In this respect, the law faculty is important to the citizens as a whole. In tangible recognition of the part the faculty has to play, these commodious accommodations have been found — thanks to Mr. McConnell. It is the first real home of faculty and students."

Explaining the name given to the newly acquired establishment, Chancellor Tyndale said that it seemed appropriate to name it in honor of the donor but permission to do this was refused. Therefore, upon the decision of the governors of McGill University, it was commemorated to the first chancellor of McGill, Charles Dewey Day.

Mr. Justice Day was born in Vermont, U.S.A., and as a boy, came to Canada where he later became a British citizen. In 1827, he was admitted to the bar and was elevated to the King's Court Bench (the superior court) in 1841. His appointment as McGill's first governor came to him in 1837; a post he held until 1884, when he died. Mr. Justice Day was on the commission which drafted our civil code.

After the opening ceremonies, the guests assembled at an informal tea. A distinguished member of this group was Mr. Harry Haig, the oldest graduate of the faculty of law, who received his degree here in 1885.

Many guests took the opportunity to wander through the spacious libraries and brightly-lit lecture rooms. The common room, scene of the preceding events, was openly admired as the visitors remarked the modern furnishings and the noticeable atmosphere of comfort.

NEW LAW FACULTY QUARTERS: McGill University's faculty of law yesterday formally took over new quarters in the former Ross residence on Upper Peel street. The new quarters will be known as Chancellor Day Hall in honor of the first chancellor of the university. Pictured at the ceremony, left to right, are Maurice Pollack of Quebec City who donated the furnishings for the main lounge of the hall; Associate Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale, chancellor of McGill; A. Sydney Brunau, K.C., dean of the law faculty; Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill; Matthew Hannon, president of the Law Undergraduates Society. (Gazette Photo)

FEBRUARY
Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28

McGill Daily

News Desk Editors
Meeting Today
At 1 p.m.

Vol. XXXIX., No. 77

Montreal, Friday, February 10, 1950

PRICE TWO CENTS

Five Coeds Picked For Queen Contest

26 Contestants Compete for Honours

By GARRY PATTERSON
The five finalists for the position of the Winter Carnival Queen were selected last night at a reception in the R.V.C. Common Room. Chosen were Ann Dohan, Brenda Turner, Jane Currie, Alice Diggs and Pat Elder. Students will go to the polls on Wednesday to elect one of these coeds Queen, to reign over the coming Carnival.

The 26 nominees were given a chance to meet the judges at an informal reception before the selection committee started to pick the finalists. The judges were made up of three members of the Carnival executive and three members of the Student's Council. Kayo Little, president of the Women's Union, Jack Crepeau, president of the Union, and Colin MacCallum, president of the Students Society, were the representatives from the S.E.C. while Chris Bovey, Carnival chairman, Kent Newcombe and Peter Pershall, co-chairman of the publicity committee, represented the carnival executive.

The girls were first taken individually before the judges for a one minute period. They were asked a few questions as to their home towns, faculties, hobbies, etc. From the original 26 nominees the judges then picked 10 for further elimination. These 10 went before the judges for a further few minutes, following which the five finalists were picked.

Three of the final five chosen were Montrealeers. Out-of-towners were Alice Diggs, a 20-year-old coed from Washington, D. C. and 18-year-old Brenda Turner, a second year arts student from Vancouver. Other finalists were Jane Currie, a 19-year-old second year physical education student, Ann Dohan, a second year arts student who is also 18, and Pat Elder, 20-year-old third year phys ed student.

The girls will take part in the Wednesday parade (see other story on this page) and Thursday's torchlight parade to the Park Slide on the mountain.

They will also be very much in evidence at Friday night's Forum spectacle when Mayor Camille Houdet crowns the Queen.

The Queen will be drawn out on to centre ice on a sleigh by the Fireflies, McGill's skating chorus line. The lights will be focused on the Queen and her identity revealed to the crowd. On Saturday she will present the prizes to the winners of the various athletic contests.

The afternoon reception at R. V. C. at which the girls were selected was organized by John Allen.

(Continued on Page 4)

Orthopedic Surgery Lecture Heard by Pre-Med Society

By DON ALLEN
Contributions which were made to orthopedic surgery during the last few centuries by noted medical pioneers were reviewed by Dr. L. G. Petrie at a meeting of the Pre-Medical Society in the Biology Building yesterday afternoon. He also discussed modern techniques in orthopedic surgery and advances which are being made in orthopedics and in allied medical fields.

Dr. Petrie told of the necessity of such discoveries as antiseptic surgery, the use of splints, and the commencement of the use of anaesthetics in surgery to the techniques of modern orthopedics. These techniques, he continued, are often indispensable in cases of poliomyelitis, tuberculosis of the thigh, or fractured hips. It is also of use in the treatment of babies which are born with club feet.

One topic which proved of interest during the question period was the various techniques which are now employed in bone-grafting operations.

Slaples of stainless steel or of an alloy known as vitallium are often employed, Dr. Petrie explained. New methods are always being developed, he said. "The history of orthopedics is far from dead." He further commented on the plastic joints which are now being used

Workers Needed for Frosh Sculpture

A call to first year students to "report for duty" on the lower campus at 2 p.m. today to help in the construction of an ice palace came yesterday from Pete Robinson, chairman of this year's Winter Carnival activities.

The ice palace will be one of the new features of this year's Winter Carnival, with the First Year Club taking charge of construction. The club hopes to rival the Dartmouth Winter Carnival Bear, a 28 foot statue constructed recently at their Carnival.

The Palace will be 40 feet long, and 12 feet high interspread by towers reaching 20 feet in height. When the structure is finished, it will be illuminated by colored lights. Mr. H. Brunet, the Carnival announcer, will supply the ice blocks at a greatly reduced price.

Mark Hatt, in charge of the construction, said yesterday said yesterday that there will be a bucket brigade entirely composed of freshmen, who will carry the water necessary for freezing the blocks together. The freshmen will also aid in the actual construction as well, and all freshmen are urged to come.

'Zany' Parade To Publicize Carnival

McGill students will publicize the winter carnival by staging a "zany parade" on Wednesday, Feb. 15, it was yesterday announced by the publicity committee.

The parade will begin at 11 a.m. in front of the McGill Union. It will include the McGill band in long red underwear, clowns, banners proclaiming that "everyone is going to the McGill Winter Carnival," and the five carnival queen contestant finalists who will ride in convertible cars in the parade. Students will be dressed as Eskimos, Russians, convicts, and just about anything else, the committee said.

The city of Montreal will provide a motorcycle, escort to clear the way for the students in the parade. The parade will start in front of the McGill Union and will move west on Sherbrooke street to Guy, down to St. Catherine and from there east to Peel, from Peel and St. Catherine, the parade will go around Dominion Square, then back up to St. Catherine, east to University, up University and ending back at the McGill Union.

CARNIVAL QUEEN FINALISTS pose with last year's Queen—Beryl Dickenson-Dash. Left to right they are: Ann Dohan, Pat Elder, Jane Currie, Beryl Dickenson-Dash, Brenda Turner, and Alice Diggs. McGill students will have their opportunity to elect one of the five finalists as Carnival Queen on Wednesday and to watch her crowning on Friday evening, Feb. 17, by Mayor Houdet.

Phelps Inaugural Discusses Canadian Writing & Society

By GARRY PATTERSON
"The Canadian people are growing up into a realization of their place in the world and of their duty to explore and discover themselves in terms of what they are as a part of and in relation to the world," said Professor Arthur L. Phelps in his inaugural lecture entitled "Canadian Society and Literature" in Moyse Hall last night.

As there is a French spirit and a British tradition and an American way, continued Dr. Phelps, so there may be a Canadian essence or flavor of which we and no one else can properly be the responsible custodians. It may be that this spirit is abroad among us, for good or ill — making us ask, for instance if Mr. Duplessis in Quebec province is at all time behaving in a Canadian way.

Dr. Phelps said that it is possible that we are at a "sort of critical point of emergence" in Canadian life. We realize that our educational system has not produced a sufficient number of young men and women cultivated in the Arts and possessed of that human awareness that comes from familiarity with the worlds of arts.

Mathew Arnold, the speaker continued, once said that, if poetry were threatened with decay the instinct for self-preservation in man would maintain it. There does therefore seem to be some potent interrelationship between society and literature, he said.

"In what sense and to what degree has literature in Canada, directly or by implication, reflected and interpreted with imagination and passion and in appropriate clarifying form the nature and complexities of our own society? questioned Professor Phelps. The answer, he added, can be a comment both on our society and on our literature — in the field of poetry some of the work of A. M. Klein and Patrick Anderson, of this city and this university, has helped us to the answer which is the comment.

Under some definitions of the word literature Canada might be said to have none at all, said the speaker, but there are some things to be said concerning the literature thus far produced in Canada. In the first place, stated Dr. Phelps, there is much more of it than many people think exists. In the second place in general terms there is more downright honest quality than the self-conscious timid little Canadian might imagine. In the third place there is a good deal of writing that has the mark, the accent of our time on it in the fashion that transcends time and place.

"In conclusion," said Dr. Phelps, "the universities in Canada have not yet turned informed, imaginative and creative criticism upon the sources, conditions and achievements of literature in Canada. It may be a sign of growth towards a

(Continued on Page 4)

Council 'Vehemently' Opposes I.U.S. Ties in 2-Hour Discussion

George Denny To Moderate Forum

George V. Denny, Jr., moderator of the Town Hall Meeting of the Air will act as moderator over the McGill Debating Society Forum on Sunday afternoon directly after he has moderated the Town Hall Forum. It was announced yesterday by Boris Berthier, chairman of the radio forum.

The topic to be discussed by the McGill forum this Sunday will be "How can we be successful parents?" Mr. Denny told McGill debaters he would like to receive recordings of future broadcasts of the McGill Debaters Radio Forum for use as examples for other groups, Berthier said.

The McGill debaters are the only Montreal group to have Mr. Denny on the air, and this was done largely through the co-operation of Radio, Station CFCF.

The Debating Society forum presents the student point of view on the Town Hall topic being discussed that week. The topic is also discussed from the Canadian angle.

Mr. Denny has just returned from a flight around the world with the Town Hall meeting of the air.

He met with the McGill debaters last Wednesday morning in order to record the broadcast and to give them some pointers on conducting the radio forum.

The forum a 15 minute program will commence at 3.30 p.m., and will be followed 15 minutes later by the McGill Show.

Peace Council to Hold Constitutional Meet.

Cyril Watson, pro-tem chairman of the newly formed McGill Peace Council, announced that there will be a meeting of the Council on Monday at 5 p.m. in the New Room of the Union. The main issue for the meeting will be the constitution proposed by the constitution committee composed of Cyril Watson, Abe Gani, and Don Kushner.

After a constitution is adopted, elections will be held for executive positions in the club. Then the new executive will petition the S.E.C. for recognition.

The purpose of the club is to foster an interest in all measures for peace, and promote friendly relations between international student organizations it was announced by the chairman.

Council Briefs

In response to a letter from the president of the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto regarding their stand on the 10 per cent discount on text books. The following motion moved by Julian Hutchison (Commerce) and seconded by Perry Black (Arts and Science), was passed:

"The McGill SEC hereby endorses the stand of the University of Toronto SAC on the question of textbook prices, as contained in the SAC's letter, dated January 21, 1950, and that the SEC register a strong protest to the MacMillan Company of Canada, the Oxford Press, and Nelson's Ltd. in support of the stand taken by the Toronto SAC on the matter of the boycott of the University of Toronto bookstore."

Boris Gardavsky (Engineering) and a member of the finance committee were named to represent the Council regarding the sale of the Dawson Students' Society assets.

A recommendation, on application from the Debating Society, that a public speaking course be given at the University was made.

It was decided that a dance should be held after the Students' Society banquet on March 2.

Pre-Medical Society Postpones Tour Plan

The executive of the Pre-Medical society has announced that the tour of the Royal Victoria Hospital which was scheduled to take place tomorrow has been postponed until a later date. There will be a tour, however, of the Queen Mary Veterans Hospital at 10 a.m. tomorrow and those who plan to attend are asked to sign the lists which have been posted in the Biology Building.

NEWS MEET CANCELLED

The weekly staff meeting of Daily staffers of the rank of staff writer and above which would normally be held this afternoon at 4 p.m., has been cancelled.

Madame Casgrain Advocates Changes in Marriage Laws

By MARY DRAPER
The inadequacy of marriage laws in Quebec was the subject of an address by Madame Piere Casgrain to the Women's Union at R. V. C. last night. She stressed the importance of familiarizing oneself with these laws and their implications before marriage to avoid difficulties later.

"When marriage goes well we do not think of the civil code," said Madame Casgrain, "but when the husband turns out not to be all that he should be, then legal complications are apt to arise under the present system." It is advisable as a precaution to draw up a marriage contract.

If a couple are married in Quebec and do not have a marriage contract they are subject to the Community Regime which is the civil law of Quebec. According to this law, the husband becomes sole master of all movable property of his wife, and all immovable property acquired by her after the marriage. Madame Casgrain explained that by movable property was meant cash, stocks, bonds and other securities, and by immovable was meant real estate, houses, property and other such holdings. The only property legally owned by a married woman in Quebec is that immovable property which she owned before she was married.

Madame Casgrain said that there are advantages and disadvantages to this system. If one partner dies the other is legally entitled to one half of the combined resources of the marriage partnership, which removed the danger of one partner being disinherited by the other.

On the other hand, this system also means that the wife cannot enter into any business contract whatsoever without her husband's signature.

"The complications arising from the wife's legal minority are many," said Madame Casgrain. "She cannot buy or sell bonds, or other securities, sign any legal document, or even have an operation, without the endorsement of her husband's signature. If the husband is not a good, just administrator, the wife may be deprived of her entire fortune, including any inheritance, and if the husband is one who travels, all kinds of difficulties may arise, she asserted.

A marriage contract, continued Madame Casgrain, will simplify the problem. In such a contract, drawn up by a notary, it is stated that the couple are being married with separation of property. The material possessions of the wife are stated, and the husband often pledges in the contract to give a certain amount of money to his wife.

In conclusion, Madame Casgrain stressed the inadequacy of the existing laws in Quebec. The civil code is based on the old Napoleonic Code, which was drawn up in the days when most property was in the form of land, and was adequate then, but in our age of movable assets these laws are no longer adequate.

"I can be elected to the Commons or Senate of Canada and pass laws, but in the eyes of the law of Quebec, I am a minor," Madame Casgrain added ruefully.

Law Home Is Named Chancellor Day Hall

Tyndale Calls For Breadth Of View

By BERN PELLETIER

The Chancellor Day Hall of McGill University is the official name given to the new law faculty building, formerly McConnell House, announced Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale, chancellor of the university, to a gathering of McGill University law graduates in the new building's common room at the ceremonial opening yesterday afternoon. Principal F. Cyril James was also present and was seated at the speaker's table.

Dean A. S. Bruneau opened the event by extending a welcome to the guests and inviting them to tour the building and observe the various facilities. He gave thanks, not only to Mr. McConnell for donating the premises, but also to Mr. Maurice Pollack, a Quebec City businessman, for contributing the furnishings of the common room.

The president of the law undergraduate society, Matthew Hannon, expressed the gratitude of the law faculty students and thanked both donors on behalf of himself and his fellow students. Turning to Mr. Pollack, Mr. Hannon told him that he had made a contribution in helping to form the careers of the forthcoming law graduates and knew that, in the future, he would feel proud of them.

Chancellor Tyndale, in his address to the assembled law graduates, remarked that as a justice it was his duty to maintain certain characteristics of justice that are of interest to this province and to Canada. He referred to the two sets of laws prevailing in Quebec.

"A breadth of view and an open mind are necessary," he continued. "The first requisite is for judges to be free of governmental control. In this respect, the law faculty is important to the citizens as a whole. In tangible recognition of the part the faculty has to play, these commodious accommodations have been found — thanks to Mr. McConnell. It is the first real home of faculty and students."

Explaining the name given to the newly acquired establishment, Chancellor Tyndale said that it seemed appropriate to name it in honor of the donor but permission to do this was refused. Therefore, upon the decision of the governors of McGill University, it was commemorated to the first chancellor of McGill, Charles Dewey Day.

Mr. Justice Day was born in Vermont, U.S.A., and as a boy, came to Canada where he later became a British citizen. In 1827, he was admitted to the bar and was elevated to the King's Court Bench (the superior court) in 1841. His appointment as McGill's first governor came to him in 1837; a post he held until 1884, when he died. Mr. Justice Day was on the commission which drafted our civil code.

After the opening ceremonies, the guests assembled at an informal tea. A distinguished member of this group was Mr. Harry Haig, the oldest graduate of the faculty of law, who received his degree here in 1885.

Many guests took the opportunity to wander through the spacious libraries and brightly-lit lecture rooms. The common room, scene of the preceding events, was opened up to the visitors and the noticeable atmosphere of comfort.

NEW LAW FACULTY QUARTERS: McGill University's faculty of law yesterday formally took over new quarters in the former Ross residence on Upper Peel street. The new quarters will be known as Chancellor Day Hall in honor of the first chancellor of the university. Pictured at the ceremony, left to right, are Maurice Pollack of Quebec City, who donated the furnishings for the main lounge of the hall; Associate Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale, chancellor of McGill; A. Sydney Bruneau, K.C., dean of the law faculty; Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill; Matthew Hannon, president of the Law Undergraduates Society. (Gazette Photo)

Lasalle Overwhelms Red Mermen by 53-22, at NDG

Merrow, Mingie Place Cage and Hockey Crews Take to Road One-Two, Backstroke

By RUBE DRESSLER
It was a sad Philadelphia story at the N.D.G. pool last night as the mighty Lasalle Explorers defeated McGill by a 53-22 score. The Philadelphians won eight of the nine events of the meet and their galaxy of tank talent bettered two Dominion records.

Lasalle showed as a polished precision aqua machine. They were staffed by a quartet of All-American freestylers and had Joe Verdeur and Billy Dorsch in the specialty strokes.

The opening 300 yard Medley Relay saw amazing trio of Billy Dorsch, backstroke, Joe Verdeur, breaststroke and Bob Reagan freestyle, win in a record time 2:56.1. This was almost ten seconds under the Dominion record.

Forest Devlin swam to a phenomenal 2:12.6 win in the 220 yard freestyle for another record. Rhodes of the Explorers sped to a 50 yard win in 24.7 seconds. The diving competition went to Pat Kennedy of LaSalle who gave an artistic exhibition on the one meter board. The 150 yard backstroke pitted Dorsch against Merrow and Mingie of the Red Mermen. The three were bunched for the first one hundred yards of the race, then Merrow with a fierce surge of energy picked up the tempo and forged into the lead, which he never relinquished. Mingie swam a wonderful race and came fast at the end to seize second place. The swimming time of 1:37.8 gave Merrow a new Dominion record. It was McGill's sole victory.

The 200 yard breaststroke showed the overfifteen crowd at N.D.G. the world's record - holder and Olympic champion, Joe Verdeur. Verdeur's methodical, quick, windmill-like stroke carried him to a speedy 2:17.9 victory. This was almost 10 seconds better than the Dominion record of 2:27.6. Koplin of McGill set a new Quebec record of 2:31.4 in coming in second to Verdeur. The time of victory was near the world record.

(Continued on Page 4)

Pucksters To Face Varsity In Toronto

By FRANK SHAMY
Trailing the league leading University of Montreal Carabins by only one game, Toronto Varsity's senior hockey team will be on the hunt for first place when they tackle McGill Redmen at home in Varsity Arena tonight. A win for the Blues will pull them into a first place tie with the idle Carabins, while a loss will severely hinder Varsity hopes for the 1950 championship.

Each team has four games left to play. If Toronto loses to McGill tonight, Varsity will have to rely on either Quebec or McGill upsetting the Carabins to ensure the Blues of at least a tie for first place, even though Toronto manages to win their remaining three games. Although McGill is completely eliminated from the championship race, the Montreal-Toronto rivalry is still much in evidence, and the Redmen can be expected to give their usual fighting display in the Queen City.

In their two previous encounters with Toronto, both of which were played in the Montreal Forum, McGill went down to a 5-1 defeat in the season's opener and were planked 4-0 two weeks ago. But the team has been going well in practice this week and according to manager Bob Hunter, "We should take them tonight. We always play a good game in Toronto."

Coach Dave Campbell has decided to go along with Bob MacLellan between the pipes. Bob's sensational work against the Carabins last Saturday coupled with his excellent display against the Lachine All-Stars in an exhibition game on Monday night has earned him tonight's job as net custodian.

On defence the Redmen will have their old reliable, Charles Sanderson, and newcomers Ruben Zemel, Kevin Reynolds, and Dawson Tilley. Campbell's first forward line will be the Irving, Rocky Robillard, O'Neill combination. This smooth-working trio, centered by football quarterback Harry Irving, is the Redmen's big offensive gun. The second line will be centered by Ted Murphy, with Len Kent at left wing and Gene Robillard patrolling the right boards. McGill's third line will have newcomer George Andrews in the pivot slot while Arnold Taylor and Bob Russell will be on the wings.

Coach Wally Halder of Toronto will have his ace forwards Cec Turcott and Wes Moore available tonight, but Ernie Frey, the third member of the line, is out with an injury for the rest of the season and his replacement is not yet known. Addison, Hayes, MacDougall and Kane will take care of the defensive duties in front of goaler Doug Orr.

BADMINTON

The McGill Intercollegiate Badminton team will be chosen Thursday night, Feb. 9, by Mr. Doug Grant. Will all those interested please be in attendance at 8:00 p.m. at the latest. The team will travel to Queen's University during the Winter Carnival week-end.

Hockey Team Face Bishops, Clarkson in Weekend Tilts

Making their most important trip of the season this weekend, the Intermediate Braves will tackle Bishops College Saturday night in Lennoxville and go on to meet the Clarkson Tech on Sunday at Postam, N.Y.

The Braves, up to date, hold an impressive 4-1 record, losing their only game last Tuesday night against the MacDonald Aggies by a 4-2 count. In their previous engagement, the locals whipped the Aggies by a 5-2 score.

In their three other wins, the Braves took Dawson in camp by a 4-2 score, defeated Bishops 4-1 and came through with a victory over the Loyola crew dropping the squad by a decision.

When the locals last met the boys from Bishop, the Braves coasted to a 4-1 victory after taking a two goal lead in the first period. The locals held the Bishop crew scoreless until the latter part of the last period when they finally beat Rubenstein for their only marker.

Goalie Rubenstein, who also made

JOE VERDEUR, world's record-holder in the 300 yard individual medley and 200-yard breaststroke. He won the 200-yard event last night, swimming 10 seconds under the Dominion record. Verdeur anchors the famed 400-yard medley relay quartet of Rhodes-Devlin-Reagan and Verdeur, which placed so high in the national championships in the States last year.

Verdeur was the Olympic Gold Medal winner in the 200-metre backstroke in the 1948 Games in London.

Inter Vol'ball Play-off Tilts Hard Fought

First round play-off action was held yesterday afternoon in the Intramural Volleyball league. Four games were played.

In the first, X-Skis (Eng.) eliminated Phys Ed IV by scores of 15-7, 15-10. Faltering teamwork by the Phys Eds and their weak backcourt defence proved their undoing.

Eng. IV slapped down a hard playing Architecture team 15-1, 15-7 as their co-ordination and fine serving provided the margin for victory. The architects had trouble covering shots made by their short handed opponents and several of their returns were lost in the net.

A hard driving Commerce IV sextet fell before Dents 2, 15-12, 15-5 in a well fought game. The commercemen showed good teamwork, but many of their returns went out of bounds and this cost them the game.

In the fourth tilt, limited to a single 21 game, Law turned back Meds 21-7. The winners showed a poor knowledge of the court and their serving was below par, but they were still able to take the decision from their smoother playing opponents.

LOST!

Lost—Yellow leather purse in Moyse Hall 11 o'clock Thursday. Finder please contact Janet McNally, R.V.C. UNiversity 0198.

Inter Cagers Play R.M.C. Queens in League Games

Manny Schacter's Intermediate basketball Braves leave this afternoon for Kingston where they will participate in two regular scheduled league tilts.

They meet a Royal Military College quintet shortly after they descend from the train in Kingston, and tomorrow afternoon they take on a Queen's Intermediate squad.

The Braves will only be minus the services of Bruce Fisher, who is unable to make the trip because of the pressure of studies. The rest of the squad is intact and consists of the same players who made a double sweep last week-end over the Cornwall Aces and MacDonald Aggies.

Coach Schacter has no definite starting line for he changes it every game. The Braves looked good last night in their scrimmage with the seniors, and a duplication of last week's twin victory would land the team near the top in the Ottawa St. Lawrence Conference league.

Pete Selmers, a Dawson import, has been going great guns for the Braves. He was the runner up in the scoring column in last Friday's set-to against the green-clad Cornwall Aces, and has always been a steady player on Manny Schacter's squad.

Brian Pye, who travelled with the Senior Redmen to Plattsburg

Whites Defeat Y.W.C.A. Blues

Last night's fighting McGill White team downed the favored Y.W.C.A. Blues by a score of 33-24 to avenge a previous defeat at the hands of the Blues. This beating, added to the Y's defeat last night by Sir George has placed McGill team in first place in the W.O.B.L.

McGill drew first blood, and led by captain Molly Camp who scored 18 points, they were never headed. Molly could do no wrong as she scored basket after basket to lead at half time with 10 points. Patty Griffiths was runner up on McGill team with 7 points to her credit. Ruth Welsman sank 1 basket and 2 free shots for 4 points while Mary Richardson and Chuckie Christensen each chalked up 2 points for their Alma Mater.

High scorer for the Y was Joyce Court with 10 points. She sank a couple of picture shots, shooting from beyond the two-thirds line and swishing the cords cleanly. Jean Machan came back after injuring her ankle to score 5 points for her team. Other scorers for the "Y" were Joan Allen with 7, Pat Reynolds 1, and Vanwart 2.

Lou Endman

Bud Frazer

Basketballers Meet Gael Quintet

By JACK RABINOVITCH
McGill's senior cagers rounded off their practise last night with a light scrimmage against the Intermediates in preparation for their Saturday night contest in Gael-town.

The Red team will be at full strength for this game and coach Abramowitz has stressed the importance, to the team, of winning this crucial tilt. Mentor Moe's boys are determined to win this one, and it will be a fighting Red team that arrives in Kingston tomorrow.

Abramowitz will start his regular team; Bud Fraser, who has been playing inspired ball this season, will jump at centre, Sheldon Merling 18-year-old star, and captain Mike Bloom are in the forward slots, while Don Finlayson and Lou Endman will work from guard positions. The latter turned in a brilliant performance against Champlain scoring 24 points. Dave Caldwell, Red gridiron star, Asher Garbus, Smiley Wilson, Dennis Skinner and Bruce Cunningham round out the squad.

If McGill wins their remaining games and Western loses another a play off would be forced but under no other conditions. The rule that holds in Intercollegiate football does not hold in basketball according to latest C.I.A.U. reports. Therefore every game the McGill team plays now stands between them and a playoff hope.

The Red squad defeated the Tricolored quintet in their first encounter 50-33 but the Redmen were defeated by Varsity who in turn were defeated by the Gaels the next night.

Mentor Moe is not underrating the Tricolored squad, for latest reports from the Gael camp are that coach Frank Tindall has had his boys going through their paces the whole week.

The Queen's team will feature Tip Logan, Gael gridiron star, John Lampman, Jim McNiven and Jack Griffen, all potential scoring threats.

C.I.A.U. LEAGUE STANDINGS
	P	W	L
Western	2	2	0
McGill	4	2	2
Queens	2	1	1
Toronto	3	1	2

For Your Valentine

A Loving Tribute from a Smart Lindor Shop

- Sheerest Nylons
- Dainty Blouses
- Lacy Lingerie

WRAPPED IN A SILVER GIFT BOX

775 ST. CATHERINE W.
1505 ST. CATHERINE W.
1304 ST. CATHERINE W.
5693 PARK AVENUE
2923 MASSON STREET
6785 ST. HUBERT STREET
3757 NOTRE DAME W.
1682 MT. ROYAL AVE. E.
4009 WELLINGTON ST.
IN THE LAURENTIEN HOTEL

Your nearest Lindor Shop, 775 St. Catherine W., cor. McGill College

Refresh... Add
Zest To The Hour

5¢

Ask for it either way... both trade-marks mean the same thing.

COCA-COLA LTD. — MONTREAL

Go for widespread collars?...

Then you'll like Arrow's Arno!

The fused semi-widespread Arno collar is smooth-fitting, frames your tie-knot smartly.

And all Arrow shirts are SANFORIZED labelled, guaranteed never to shrink out of fit. Good choice, too—whites, plains, stripes.

See the fine selection at Arrow dealers now.

ARROW SHIRTS

Cluett, Peabody & Co. of Canada, Limited.

CIAU SKIING
The C.I.A.U. Ski Meet that was scheduled for this weekend in St. Sauveur has been postponed until the third and fourth of March. The above was announced by Boyd Whittall to the "Daily" last evening.

NOTICE
There will be informal badminton on Thursday night from 7.30 to 10.30.
Watch Daily for further news concerning McGill's Senior Men's Singles Tournament. This tournament will take place within a few weeks.

DANCING

EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT

featuring
JOSE DE COSTA
His Piano and Orchestra

ANN WILLIAMS
Vocalist

Dancing 9 to 1 a.m.
Admission $2.50 per Couple
Plus Tax

THE RITZ-CARLTON
MONTREAL

Ask for

BRADINGS

ALE

You'll like it!

Ruse Suspected as 'Coed' Wires Regrets

Is Dawson up to its old tricks again?

Most observers here thought so yesterday when Carnival executives released the text of a telegram they received from New York from one of the Queens "candidates."

Text of the telegram, sent by "Fern Scott" follows:

"Sorry I cannot be at tea with other Carnival candidates. Before coming to McGill had contract with Seattle Model agency. This was transferred east. Am in N.Y. for 3 days modelling 1950 bathing suits on personal call from Mr. Powers. As only representative from Dawson and Engineering trust special consideration will be made. Fern Scott."

Other evidence in favour of the "tricks" theory:

A check with the registrar's office revealed that no "Fern Scott" was registered at the university.

No picture of the "candidate" was submitted with "her" nomination. Stipulated procedure called for photos with all nominations.

The nomination was signed for the most part by Dawson-ites.

McGill Choral Society Announces Executive

Elections for next year's executive of the Choral Society took place at their regular practice earlier this week.

Five of the nine posts had previously been filled by acclamation and elections were contested for the positions of Secretary, Treasurer, Publicity Director, and Social Convenor.

The new executive is as follows: president, Allan Curreton; vice-president, Alison Shute; secretary, Elizabeth-Ann Sumner; treasurer, John Bishop; ticket sales manager, Robert Paulette; publicity director, Deirdre Wade; programme director, Frank Allen; social convenor, Brian Catterill; and librarian, Joyce Colman.

It was also announced by the society that Shirley Sproule and Andre Rousseau had been chosen as the soprano and bass soloists in the Bach "Peasant Cantata" to be performed at the society's "Spring-song" on March 21.

Phelps-P. 1

maturity of both our society and our literature that we are beginning to glimpse an appropriate university responsibility in regard to what I suppose would come to be called literary research and criticism in the Canadian field.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Dean D. L. Thomson of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

Merrow-P. 3

ord of 2:14.7 set by Verdeur in 1948.

The 440-free-style was won by Reagon of the Explorers in 5:08.3. He followed by Greg Titus of McGill who equaled the Quebec record of 5:29.7. The 200 yard relay quartet of Furlong-Devlin-Fitzgerald-Rhodes won the final event of the meet.

The McGill squad swam well against the powerful Explorers. The Philadelphians were literally packed with record-holders. The efforts of Jim Quayle, Pete Issenman, and Dick Fullerton were outstanding in view of the competition. Kopin and his win streak of 16 have been separated, but it is a measure of consolation that it took the world's greatest swimmer to do it. Merrow and Mingle laid a strong claim to greatness by their show against LaSalle.

It was a thrilling swimming show despite the rather one-sided score. The LaSalle squad now boasts six straight wins and should cause havoc in New England on their current trip.

The beneficial effects of the keen competition may be in evidence against R.P.I. at the Canadian Legion Pool, 1170 Mountain St., on Saturday afternoon. Last year R.P.I. defeated McGill 48-27. A close contest is anticipated, and the starting gun is set for 2:30.

Len Harbour-P. 1

that a practical approach be adopted in the consideration of this question. He asserted that some Canadian universities would not stand for affiliation and, if affiliation did take place, it might ruin good NFCUS work.

Mackenzie went on to say that the public was not well-informed on the views of McGill students and since such was the case, McGill students' support of affiliation with I.U.S. might be interpreted as a swing to the left. We would be placed in a very bad light, he said, and therefore should vote against affiliation.

Suggesting that perhaps an end to the controversy would be advisable, Jack Crepeau (President, McGill Union), said that if NFCUS joined IUS then all discussion would cease on the subject.

Further discussion pointed to the fact that the central executive of the IUS had wide powers, and some councillors felt that the power vested in this body was too great.

Other ideas expressed were that if NFCUS should join IUS it would be bound by the latter's decisions; that the Canadian organization was not yet strong enough to battle as it would have to do if it joined IUS; and that IUS was merely a vehicle for communist propaganda.

The following motion, moved by David Mackenzie (Law) and seconded by Kayo Little (President, Women's Union) was then passed, without dissenting vote:

"Whereas affiliation with the International Union of Students is not in the best interests of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

"Be it resolved that the Students' Executive Council, on behalf of the Students' Society, vehemently opposes affiliation with the International Union of Students;

"And be it further resolved that the Students' Society continue to give full support to the International Students' Service in the furtherance of international student interests and relations."

Letters-P. 2

in industry are continuously harping on the fact that Canada needs more trained personnel. They must surely realize that with the high costs of fees, books, clothes, it is very difficult for students of average means to become the trained personnel that this country needs. I am sure that a public spirited company like the tramway company will not hesitate to comply with our request. If they should hesitate at first I am sure that by the presentation of petitions and by demonstrations on the part of all the students attending Montreal universities and colleges they will comply with our moderate request.

I would suggest to the S.E.C. that they appoint a representative to confer with the representatives of the other institutions as to what course this committee should follow. Whichever course this committee should take I am sure that they will be actively supported by

THE CHURCH OF ST. ANDREW and ST. PAUL

Sherbrooke and Redpath Street

Minister:

Reverend R. J. Berlis, B.A., B.D.

University Day of Prayer for Students

11.00 a.m. A LIVING CHURCH.

11.00 a.m. Church School.

1.30 p.m. THE SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD.

The Rev. James St. Thomson, D.D.

4.30 p.m. Sunday Evening Club.

Organist and Choirmaster:

KENNETH MEEK, B.Mus., L.Mus.

McGill Students Cordially Welcomed

RELIGION FOR MODERN MAN

SERVICE 11 a.m. February 12th

Sermon Subject:

"THE GREAT EMANCIPATOR"

Minister: Rev. Angus Cameron, B.A., B.D.

Director of Religious Education: Donald Handford, B.A.

Organist and Choir Director: Donald Mackay

Church of the Messiah

UNITARIAN

Corner of Sherbrooke and Simpson near Guy

every student on the various campuses.

M. S. SMITH.

FEATURES MEETING

The weekly meeting of the Features staff will be held in the Radio Workshop today, Friday, at one o'clock. Clyde Kennedy will be present, and all members of the Features Department are asked to attend, since the meeting is an important one.

The Battle-P. 2

tentions, and meant to stop us without exposing ourselves. You can be sure that an artillery barrage is no pleasure, especially when little means of protection are afforded you.

I felt a sudden pain in my shoulder, and I seemed to lose all consciousness. Everything went black. I must have expected to wake up in a hospital, but alas, no such luck. Upon awakening I noticed my wife smiling down at me.

"Did you sleep well, dear?" she inquired. "You seemed to be dreaming that you were in the army. Did you forget that you were rejected by the army back in 1917? ... you had flat feet."

POWER'S PROMPT & PUNCTUAL PRINTERY LIMITED

If you want your orders on time, get them in on time. We are up to our neck in orders.

We must have your co-operation—100%.

Yours to please.

362 NOTRE DAME W. LA. 7188

Arena-P. 2.

As the idea was novel, Jousse decided to present two one act plays to a select audience in order to hear their comments and reactions. The praise heaped upon the experiment was overwhelming. It is interesting to note that one of the once-actors, "Hello Out There," was judged the best by Robert Speigh, adjudicator for the Quebec Regional Drama Festival last year, and Elizabeth Sifton, the star, won top honors as the best English-speaking actress. Because of this success the newly formed theatre technique." With all this in mind, the Arena Wing was encouraged to attempt a three-act play, "Thunder Rock." Herbert Whittaker of The Gazette said, "It was a most exciting evening of theatre, one which brought full emotional reaction to the play and gave rise to all sorts of fascinating surmise about this latest emergence in the-

For nearly a quarter of a century we have given a SATISFACTORY CLOTHING SERVICE TO MONTREALERS, and with our usual guarantee

'Money refunded if not satisfied'

OUR SPRING OPENING

Order early, buy cash, charge or budget, and choose from absolutely the best assortment of imported English materials in fine worsteds, sharkskins, pinheads, flannels, checks, etc.

Hand Tailored from $49.50 to $75

SOMETHING NEW IN HARRIS TWEEDS

We just received a shipment from Scotland of fourteen new patterns in LIGHTWEIGHTS.

Jackets 29.50
Topcoats 39.50
Pure Cashmere Jackets formerly 79.50 now 59.50
Topcoats same material 69.50
Trousers, flannels, and do- skins choicest quality from 14.95

Fit Rite

CUSTOM TAILORS HABERDASHERS

1474 Peel Street Opposite The Mt. Royal Hotel

COMING EVENTS

Items for this column must be typed on a special form obtainable at the Tuck Shop and deposited in The Daily mailbox by the Central Ticket Wicket in the hallway of the Union by one o'clock the day before the item is to appear. The deadline for Monday's paper is one o'clock Friday. Only brief items can be published in this column. Each event may be announced twice only in this column.

FEBRUARY 10

MONTREGIAN GEOLOGY CLUB.

The Club will hold its annual Smoker tonight at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Professional entertainment has been lined up and beverages will be served. All interested are invited to attend at one dollar ($1.00) per person. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

FEBRUARY 11

WEST INDIAN SOCIETY

The Society will hold the first in a series of Study Groups tomorrow, Feb. 11, at 2 p.m. in the Union. Mr. K. A. Augier will lead the group in a "Comparative Study of Governing Institutions in the West Indies." All students of the Political Sciences and all West Indians and their friends are invited to attend.

FEBRUARY 12

I.V.C.F.

Members of the I.V.C.F. will assist at the evening service at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. The sermon will be given by Rev. Wesley Gustafson, Secretary of the Foreign Missions Fellowship. Following the church service there will be a Hymn Sing at Student House, 3445 Peel Street, where Rev. Gustafson will again address the group. Everybody welcome.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

On Sunday evening at 8:30 p.m. the Music committee of the Hillel Foundation will present a Musical featuring "Music Influenced by Jewish Thought." The program will include works by Bruch, Debussy, Bloch, Bernstein and others. All members and friends are invited.

M.O.C.

A cross-country ski trip will be run from Shawbridge Sunday at 10 a.m. Beginners and all others interested are warmly welcomed. A winter camping overnight trip will be held Saturday night, and the M.O.C. ski house will be open all week-end.

FEBRUARY 13

GRADUATE NURSES

A general meeting is to be held on Monday, Feb. 13 at 4:45 p.m. in Beatty Hall.

FEBRUARY 14

FILM SOCIETY

The French film "La Belle et la Bete" will be shown on Tuesday, Feb. 14 and Wednesday, Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Biology Building, Room 250. There will be no English subtitles. Admission free.

YOU'LL BE GLAD TOMORROW— YOU SMOKED

PHILIP MORRIS today

Call for PHILIP MORRIS

DANCE TO JOHNNY HOLMES

AT VICTORIA HALL

Sherbrooke Street in Westmount

CABARET STYLE...

EVERY SATURDAY NITE

EATON'S CRISP WHITE FOR CO-EDS

You'll wear an air not unfeminine but crisp, fastidiously neat, always fresh ... You'll cultivate the accent of white on dark suits and dresses. An EATON artist sketches from a new group of collars and cuffs in spanking white cotton pique — all winsomely smart, all tailored for Spring ...

ACCESSORIES, MAIN FLOOR

EATON'S OF MONTREAL